

List Cost of World Leadership

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK— There are 25,000 children in Illinois who are mentally retarded and who could be trained and educated to be more useful citizens.

But a great many of them remain in their own homes, their minds in semi-darkness, their bodies cared for by loving though sorrowed mothers who fear to risk their child's entry into our already overcrowded state mental institutions.

That's the picture behind the brave effort of more than 100 members of the North Central Illinois Association For Retarded Children to build a school near Dixon. Not all members are parents of retarded children. They belong because they approve of this growing humanitarian movement.

It has been conservatively estimated that more than 100 children in the Dixon area rightfully belong in the category of a "retarded child." Some of them go to public schools, where they are allowed to slide through the first eight grades, then into a society which has little to offer them.

Our public school system has yet to fully embrace this problem. At present there are 12 "pilot" schools functioning in Illinois. It's the first public approach to a perplexing problem.

The NCIRC school in Dixon is privately operated. Two full-time instructors conduct classes in temporary quarters. Parents pay the costs.

A letter from a Dixon area resident tells the story: "Am writing concerning our little boy who is a retarded child. I did start him to school but the teacher does not have extra time to spend with him along with her other duties. So she gave me your name and address and sent me a clipping from the newspaper. Could you write me about your school?"

There have been many other inquiries, some from mothers who have seen hope for their retarded sons and daughters now discreetly kept away from the public eye.

What is a retarded child? He may be a child normal at birth, later to be afflicted with a high fever or one of seventy other ailments known to cause retardation of his brain development. The child may not become eligible for the public schools but he is "trainable." He is definitely not a problem or delinquent child.

Briefly that is a portion of the story behind the campaign for the retarded children's school here. May the campaign meet with deserved success. May it bring hope and courage to many parents.

We commend this humanitarian drive for your consideration.

Washington School Pet Recovering

Georgianni, 7-month-old pedigree Cocker Spaniel pup, was reported today in good condition at the Collins and Densmore animal hospital, 1217 Palmyra av., after undergoing the amputation of her left foreleg Friday afternoon.

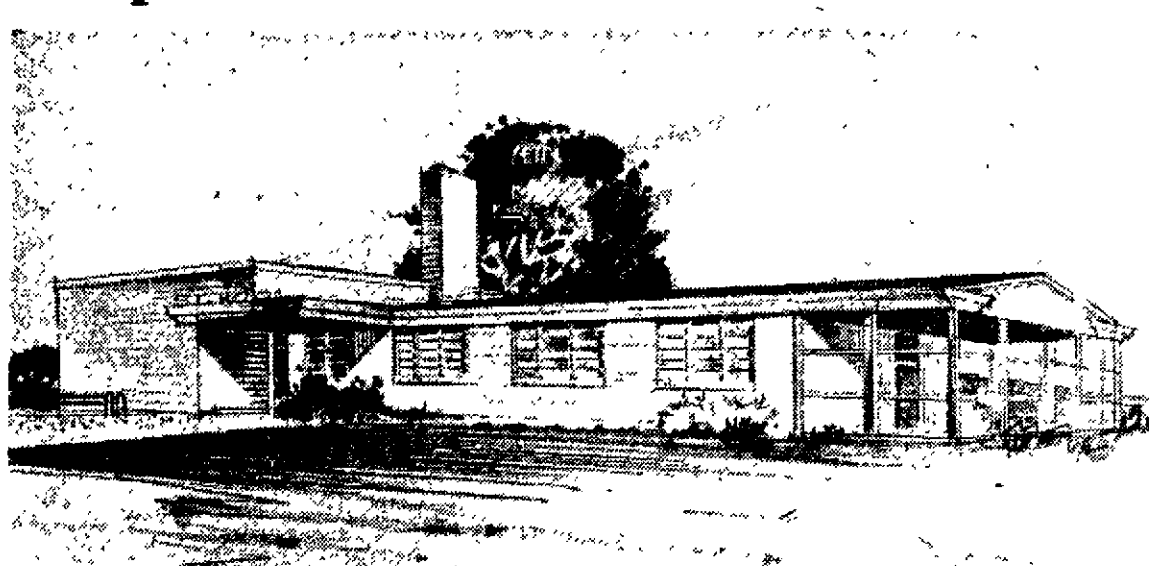

According to the veterinarians who performed the operation, considered very serious because of the possibility of shock and blood clot, Georgianni is recovering rapidly. It's expected the stitches will be removed from the leg within a week.

Hospital officials said Georgianni was up and walking around this morning. Her balance is still a little uncertain, but will improve with time.

Georgianni was given the opportunity to live a normal life, without the dangling, useless limb which scraped the ground as she walked. When Washington school children discovered her on the school grounds.

Although they offered to pay veterinarians at the animal hospital to perform an operation, the doctors agreed to do it for nothing.

Proposed Retarded Children's School

THIS IS AN ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION of a new classroom building proposed to be built by the North Central Illinois Association for Aid to Retarded Children. It will be constructed on ground leased to the association by the Seventh Day Adventists at Camp Reynoldswood for a $1 a year. Built of cement blocks, the building will consist of five classrooms, a small gymnasium or recreation room, a workshop, bathrooms, an office and kitchen.

Plan Retarded Children's School Here; Drive Starts

North Central Association Maps 7-County Campaign

The North Central Illinois Association for the Aid of Retarded Children, Inc., today launched a campaign in a seven-county area designed to acquire sufficient funds and materials to erect school classrooms on a plot of ground located near Camp Reynoldswood, west of Dixon.

Plans for the building (see accompanying sketch) have been approved by the NCIRC board of directors. It is designed to accommodate "trainable" retarded children of families located in Lee, Ogle, Whiteside, Carroll, Bureau, Winnebago and Stephenson counties.

Appeal for Help
Mrs. Carroll Boston, 715 E. Morgan st., Dixon, president of the NCIRC, said today that her group is appealing to businessmen, unions, service organizations, lodges, church groups, women's organizations, etc., for donations of time, material and money to speed the construction work.

It is estimated that the entire cost will be $43,000, but that contributions of labor and materials will cut the cost considerably—possibly in half.

Already three Dixon businessmen have made offers of aid. J. Fred Hofmann, owner of the Hofmann Heating Co., has generously offered to install a heating plant in the new structure at less than cost.

John Cahill, head of the Cahill Electric Co., has offered to donate the labor and wiring for the building.

John R. McLane, Dixon architect, will donate the greater part of his fee for drawing the building plans.

Unions Inquire
Mrs. Boston said that other labor unions have made inquiries into the proposed construction with the view of underwriting some phases of the work.

The NCIRC president explained that she has received other offers of aid from service groups who are interested in this humanitarian cause. She reminded prospective donors that contributions are deductible from income taxes. She has received a ruling to that effect from the U. S. Treasury department.

Actually, the NCIRC already operates a school in Dixon with two full-time, qualified instructors. Presently the school is situated in the Dixon armory but will be required to move shortly when the national guard unit here is reactivated. A widespread search for suitable building has been futile.

The campaign launched today will be for the building purposes only. Upkeep, cost of instruction, and other expenses will be, as they are now, borne by the parents of the retarded children.

Look to Future
Mrs. Boston explained that since the school will be the only one of this type in the immediate area, it must be built with the thought that there will be sufficient space to take care of additional children known to be in need of "training."

Present plans call for five classrooms, kitchen and dining space, assembly or gymnasium, workshop, girls and boys rest rooms, an office and a screened-in porch which can be converted into two more classrooms when needed.

The building, of cement-block construction, will measure 48 by 96 feet. It will meet all state requirements for such buildings.

According to the directors of the NCIRC, should the state legislature appropriate money for training retarded children, the building being contemplated here will meet all requirements. This has been held in mind in the construction planning.

Mrs. Boston said today that both Dixon banks have agreed to accept deposits to the account of the NCIRC. Offers of building aid of any nature may be phoned to Mrs. Boston, president, at 3-7372 or 2-9911, Dixon.

Auto Victim Is 'Critical'
Lee Taylor, 60, 317 Crawford av., was reported in critical condition today by KSB hospital authorities. He suffered head injuries and a fractured hip Feb. 28 when struck by a car in the 600 block of Third street.

Taylor was crossing Third street when an auto driven by Sam Vanscoyoc, 14, 1516 Third st., struck him. Justice of the Peace Lawrence Boos fined Vanscoyoc $10 and costs for driving without an operator's permit.

Steel Rod Punctures Brain; Local Boy Dies

Dies in Plunge

THOMAS HECKMAN, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heckman, 1223 Third st., died Saturday as a result of a fatal plunge into a basement excavation.

5-Year-Old Heckman Boy Falls

Tumbles Into Home Excavation While At Play Saturday

Death by accident was the verdict of a Lee county coroner's jury Sunday in the fatal plunge Saturday of a 5-year-old Dixon boy into a basement excavation near his home.

According to Coroner Robert Preston, the youth died as the result of a brain hemorrhage.

Thomas Heckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heckman, 1223 Third st., fell about eight feet onto a concrete reinforcing rod sticking up from a concrete footing. The rod entered the right temporal region of his head, puncturing the brain. He died in KSB hospital at 9 p. m. Saturday.

Coroner Preston said the accident occurred at about 12:45 p. m. Saturday as Heckman was playing with several other youngsters near the excavation in the 1200 block on Second street.

The boy and two companions, Gary Steder, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Steder, 1210 Third st., and David Schmidt, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Schmidt, 1503 Third st., were wrestling near the site.

Lose Balance
Schmidt, who also fell into the basement with Thomas, said they both lost their balance in the tussle and went over the side.

Thomas landed on the rod, one of several along the edge of the excavation floor. Schmidt, uninjured, escaped a similar fate by inches.

Schmidt said he got up immediately. Seeing that his companion didn't move, he knelt to help him. In the process he lifted the boy's head from the rod.

He had other companions playing at the scene summon the lad's father.

Frank Heckman arrived and carried his son to their home. Unable to get his car started, Clarence Heller, 1219 Third st., was called to assist. He drove the youth to KSB hospital.

The boy remained unconscious. At first, the youngsters playing at the excavation, one of two forming the basement of homes being constructed by the Lindquist Construction Co., Dixon, thought the injuries were minor.

Both Testify
Steder and Schmidt testified at the inquest. Schmidt was able to relate most of the story. Coroner Preston said, while Steder was able to add a few details.

Neighbors in the area said they had warned the youths on several occasions to stay away from the openings, but that they continued to play near them.

Heckman was born in Dixon on Feb. 4, 1949. He is survived by his parents, a sister, Gale Marie; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heckman, Dixon; maternal grandfather, Myron

Death-Dealing Rod

DAVID SCHMIDT, 11, Dixon, points to the steel, concrete reinforcing rod that took the life of his companion, Thomas Heckman, 5, Dixon, in a fatal Saturday plunge into a basement excavation near Van Buren avenue and Second street. Schmidt, who also toppled into the excavation, escaped a similar fate by inches. The mishap occurred at 12:45 p. m. Saturday. The boy died at 9 p. m. after failing to regain consciousness.

Nelson Man Fined $500 On Beer Sale

A 78-year-old Nelson grocer was fined $500 and costs Saturday after pleading guilty to selling liquor to minors.

Harry Bergonz, arraigned before Judge Grover Gehant, admitted Saturday he sold 12 quart bottles of beer to George Howe, 18, Rt. 1, Dixon, on Feb. 14, 1954.

Bergonz was brought into court on an information prepared by State's Atty. James Bales, Lee county.

Bales told the court he had received several reports that Bergonz had been selling beer to minors ranging in age from 15 to 18 years.

He recommended that the defendant be fined the maximum under law for the first offense. The fine ranges from $50 to $500.

The state's attorney said today he will write to the Nelson Village board informing them of Bergonz's activities, recommending that his liquor license be revoked.

Apparently another law had been broken by Bergonz, which the state's attorney plans to call to the attention of the village board of trustees.

Bergonz, in admitting he sold beer to Howe on Feb. 14, also admitted he sold beer on Sunday. The Nelson village ordinance prohibits the sale of intoxicating beverages on Sunday.

Bales said today action on the charge is not within the realm of the county, that the body making an ordinance of this nature must enforce it.

Ike Reports $7 Billion Sent Abroad

About Half Sent During 1953 to Aid Free Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told congress today that in a little more than four years the United States has given $7,700,000,000 worth of guns, ammunition and other military equipment to strengthen free nations against the threats of Soviet power.

The weapons supplied, he said, included 30,792 tanks and combat vehicles, 5,340 aircraft, 601 naval vessels and 2 million small arms and machineguns.

The figures he disclosed in the report on the mutual security program covered the period from the beginning of military assistance in October, 1949, through last December. He said almost 50 per cent of the total was shipped during 1953.

Regain Health
The report pictured many nations as regaining economic health and depending less on American assistance.

But the President asserted that "as long as the harsh threat to world peace exists our country will continue to shoulder the heavy obligations of world leadership."

He said that military assistance and economic aid programs, though constantly revised "cannot be drastically cut without unduly much of the rewarding success which has been so painstakingly and laboriously achieved."

The President said that in 1949 the United States financed about 35 per cent of its total exports of non-military goods and services by grants and loans, but in 1953, only about 15 per cent was financed by such aid.

Aid Indochina
With respect to Indochina, the President said that the rate of U.S. military shipments in 1953 was 50 per cent higher than in 1952, and he recalled that the United States had made available 385 million dollars for Indochina aid in addition to 400 million previously appropriated by congress for the present fiscal year.

The President said that the North Atlantic Treaty allies had themselves spent more than 11½ billion dollars on defense activities last year and have planned a "moderate increase" in military expenditures during 1954.

The report said that NATO's active divisions had more than tripled the 14 combat-ready divisions. It said that plane strength of the North Atlantic allies had increased more than 2½ times over the 1,800 planes of January, 1951—a present total of about 4,500—and that modern jets had replaced old-type piston driven craft.

Dixon Youth Gets 90 Days For Thievery

Wayne Alters, 18, Rt. 1, Dixon, was sentenced today to 90 days in Vandalia, state work farm, after pleading guilty in Lee county court to a charge of petty larceny.

Alters was arraigned before Judge Grover Gehant on a charge brought by Lee county State's Atty. James Bales.

He was arrested early Saturday by Dixon Police Officers Trotter and Camery and Merchant Police Officer Dewey Gilbert.

The defendant was taken into custody on Hennepin avenue, Dixon, for stealing baked goods belonging to the A&P grocery store on Peoria avenue.

Bales recommended the jail sentence in accord with Alters' record of thefts in the last few months.

The state's attorney said Alters admitted being involved in taking auto accessories from local car dealers and pilfering a gas station between here and Chicago.

Part of the loot from the A&P included an assortment of rolls which were taken from in front of the store after an early morning delivery.

The practice of taking the baked goods occurred on other occasions, Bales indicated.

While others were questioned in regard to the incident, it was determined that their connection, if any, in the A & P affair did not constitute action warranting prosecution, Bales contended.

Pinball 'Thinking Machine' Unveiled by Eastern Prof

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP)—A Mount Holyoke college philosophy professor today displayed his "thinking machine," which he says "is to logic what an adding machine is to arithmetic."

Prof. Roger W. Holmes built the machine for about $120 "plus labor."

He says it can solve practically any problem in a book on fundamental symbolic logic.

The machine, about the size of an old-fashioned table model radio, has a complex system of electrical relays which flashes lights on a control board.

If a proposition is valid a green light will flash. If it is invalid, a red light shows.

The professor sets up the questions with a series of symbols. He says the machine can't perform any function which a human operator couldn't do for himself with pencil and paper. But he claims it can tackle complex processes of reasoning with greater speed and accuracy.

He says the device can test the validity of the basic laws of logic. It also can explore the field for new principles, he says, and it can test whatever specific arguments are given it for examination.

He believes a larger model would be of great value in military or industrial planning or in crime detection.

Latin Club Has 'Roman Holiday'

By LILA HEUERMAN
Oregon Correspondent

OREGON—If you by chance walked into the Oregon high school gym Friday night, you would have thought you were in Rome in Caesar's time as Cleopatra's court held the spotlight.

The affair was the annual Latin club banquet. Upper classmen attired in togas and sandals reclined on the floor mats. The (freshmen) slaves scurried back and forth serving the food and punch.

Of course, there was no silverware in Caesar's time, so the guests ate with their fingers. The menu included carrots, radishes, olives, deviled eggs, punch, meat loaf, salmon loaf, cole slaw, peas, baking powder biscuits with honey and a date dessert with whipped cream.

Entertainment
There was entertainment as there was in Rome.

Shirley Gann recited the Lord's Prayer in Latin for the opening of the program. A clarinet quartet, Elaine Lapp, Nancy Chamberlin, Delores Young and Phyllis Anderson, played a "Polka" and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," the latter the song Nero reportedly played on his harp as Rome burned.

No Roman entertainment would be complete without the dancing girls. They were Agnes Simmons, Virgetta Hienz, Mary Loan, Norma Armour and Mary McGrath.

There was a skit about the stabbing of Caesar at the Ides of March. Brutus' speech was delivered to a background of popular music.

Cast of Skit
The cast for the drama was: Caesar, Richard Dick; Calpurnia, Jackie Leddy; Brutus, Olaf Reid; soothsayer, James Kuntzleman; Antony, Dick Haas; senators, Bob Lacher, Hennie Simmons and Jack Smith; mob, Brenda Hess, Virgetta Hienz, Pat Kinn, Mary Loan, Mary McGrath, Agnes Simmons, Sandra Buker and Sandra White. A quartet of young men, Richard Dick, Ole Reid, Jim Kuntzleman

It can spin your wheels on a dry pavement if you give it the gun, but why waste rubber?

If some show-off wants to get the jump on you at a traffic light, why not let him have fun? He isn't kidding anyone but himself, when the name on your car is CENTURY.

The real pride of owning such a car is simply this: You know so well what it can do that you never have to prove it.

That lets you enjoy the tireless ease of its gait in ordinary driving, when only a fraction of its eager power is working. It gives you a quick reserve for breasting a hill—and the happy knowledge that there's still more to come in a sudden emergency.

Sure, this is more power than most people really have to have. But you can hardly call it extravagant, when you are buying more horsepower per dollar in a CENTURY than you get in any other car in America.

Mary McBride To Quit Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Margaret McBride, a favorite with millions of radio listeners, will quit her daily broadcasts on May 15, after 20 years on the air.

After a three months vacation, she will return in the fall with a weekly television show.

"I want to devote more time to writing my column and perhaps do some other writing," she said.

Her daily AP Newsfeatures column, started last October, is carried by almost 100 newspapers from Hawaii and Alaska to New York.

Douglas Points To Sales Tax as Business Trend

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) Sunday pointed to declining retail sales in Illinois as a "startling" indication of the current business slump.

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio), appearing with Douglas on the television show "Meet Your Congress" retorted that the slump is a result of the country's getting an overdose of the "fear deal."

Douglas said retail sales in his state were down 33 per cent in January, 1954, compared with those of a year ago. These figures, he said, were the "most startling" indication of the nation's business slump that he has seen. He said the figures were based on the state's 2 per cent sales tax collections.

In January, a year ago Douglas said, the sales tax totalled $17,200,000, reflecting retail sales of $60 million dollars. This January, he said, the state tax with 11½ million dollars, showing total sales of $75 million dollars, or a "fall of one-third in retail sales."

Bender, however, said that figures show the national personal income in January was 2 billion dollars higher than a year ago. Money

Four-Time Gold Star Mom Killed

CLAY, W. Va. (AP)—A Clay County mother who drew the nation's sympathy when the fourth of her five soldier-sons died in service was killed last night in a highway accident near her home.

State police said Mrs. Florida A. Jones, 63, of nearby Bickmore, a widow, was struck by an automobile about 10 p. m. as she walked along State Route 16. She was dead when the ambulance reached Laird Memorial Hospital in Montgomery.

Only one of her five sons survives. He is Air Force Sgt. William L. Jones, who reportedly now is on recruiting duty in the Charleston area.

Three of her sons were killed during World War II.

Her youngest son, Eugene, 25, crashed to his death in paratroop training at Ft. Benning, Ga., in 1950.

Two days later, the nation acknowledged its gratitude in a letter from Louis A. Johnson, then secretary of defense, offering the discharge of her fifth son from the Air Force.

Her simple refusal was: "I am glad that I still have one son in the service of my country."

University of Illinois Bows Out Of Krebiozen Controversy

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The University of Illinois has issued a statement to a legislative investigating commission saying it assumes no conspiracy existed in the handling of Krebiozen.

The statement was issued Saturday in answer to a request by the commission that all parties involved in the controversy on the cancer drug file affidavits as to whether or not a conspiracy existed.

The statement by the university also said it no longer is involved in the controversy.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, former vice president of the university, recently told the commission that no conspiracy existed.

Dr. Stevan Durovic, discoverer of Krebiozen, in a statement Saturday charged that the American Medical Assn. and the Chicago Medical Society through their officers had conspired against him and Krebiozen. He also said they used the University of Illinois and other agencies and persons as tools in the furtherance of their conspiracy.

Lloyd Morey, president of the university, filed an affidavit saying, "While some individual differences of opinion may exist among some members of the university faculty relative to the question of whether the substance known as Krebiozen has an efficacy in treatment of cancer, I know of no controversy presently existing within or at the university with respect to research, study or experimentation with Krebiozen."

Morey said an order issued by Dr. George Stoddard, former president of the university, prohibiting research of Krebiozen, still stands.

Commandos Attack Key Air Fields

HAIPHONG, Indochina (AP)—French military authorities enforced a state of emergency in this vital seaport today following a Vietminh commando raid on a nearby landing field where American air technicians service U. S. supplied transport planes for the French war against the Communist-led rebels.

Reports circulated that the Vietminh had declared they planned to attack every area where American personnel work. The Vietminh radio recently accused the United States of intervening in the Indochinese war.

None of the 44 U. S. Air Force personnel stationed at the field, Catbi, three miles from Haiphong, was on the airfield when the commandos attacked before dawn Sunday.

The French said "several planes" had been destroyed.

McCarthy-Stevens Affair Is Handled Well by Ike

From the moment he took office, President Eisenhower has sought earnestly to surround the presidency with the dignity he believes befits it. He has declined to indulge in petty argument, or to descend into personalities. That attitude marked his recent statement on the McCarthy-Stevens affair.

The president made no attempt to defend the army's handling of the Peress case, any more than Army Secretary Stevens had done before him.

What he did try to do, basically, was to appeal to the sense of fair play of the American people, and, through them, to the congress. Here is how he said it:

"The conscience of America will clearly discern when we are exercising proper vigilance (against communism) without being unfair. That conscience is reflected in the body of the United States congress. We can be certain that its members will respond to America's convictions and beliefs in this regard."

Mr. Eisenhower was clearly making it known here that he considers congress capable of policing itself, without adulatory edicts from him. He also stressed that he has full recognition of the right of congress to investigate and inquire into all phases of American life. He gave assurance that employees and officials of the executive branch would cooperate fully and reasonably in such inquiries.

At the same time, the president re-asserted the right of the executive agencies to function without unwarranted harassment. He took complete responsibility for the acts of his administration, at all levels. He indicated willingness to answer for them.

And he made it evident he would defend his subordinates against "any kind of personal humiliation" that might be inflicted by a congressional committee.

Specifically, he bespoke the loyalty of the armed forces, mentioning in particular General Zwicker, whom Senator McCarthy called unfit to wear the uniform.

Not all Americans agree with the temperate approach the president employs in such matters. Some want him to swing hard in one direction, some in another. Perhaps the 1954 elections will show how the American people generally feel on the subject.

Memo to Egypt: Red 'Cure' Is Poison

A Paris report from Leon Dennen, correspondent for NEA, indicates the fine hand of the Communists in the recent uprisings in Egypt and Syria.

According to this version, Red plotters played a key role in the temporary deposing and later the restoration to the presidency of Gen. Mohammed Naguib in Egypt.

At least one of the 11-man junta which holds the real power is strongly in favor of a pro-Russian orientation for the Egyptian government. This man is said to have worked closely with Moscow's middle eastern mastermind, a man named Chikov.

Indications are, however, that the reaction stirred by Naguib's dismissal convinced the Reds they were moving too soon. Naguib's return to "power" therefore was managed with the consent of the Soviet Union. Again, all this according to reports reaching French Reds in Paris.

If these things are so, any Egyptians who have a real understanding of the kind of fire they are playing with had better begin worrying. The Egyptians may hate the British, and feel none too kindly toward any others who seem to support the British.

But to take Communism as an alternative would be for the Egyptians to cut themselves off at the shoetops to spite their ancient enemies.

Keen Analysis Wins Most Hands

By OSWALD JACOBY

How should South play for the ninth trick in today's hand? He is sure of one spade, two hearts, three diamonds, and two clubs. The ninth trick is somewhat harder to find.

When the hand was actually played, South gave himself every chance to find the ninth trick. West opened the king of spades, holding the first trick. He continued with the queen of spades, East discarded a diamond, and South won with the ace.

South saw that there was a chance for an extra trick if the suit broke 3-3 and if West could be kept out of the lead. He therefore led a low club from his hand. When West played the four, South played the six of clubs from dummy, allowing East to win with the seven. East returned the queen of clubs, and South won with the king.

South still didn't know whether or not the clubs would break, but there was no need for haste in find-the bidding has been:

North East South West
1 Diamond 1 Spade
You, South, hold: Spades A-Q, Hearts A-5-2, Diamonds K-5-3-2, Clubs Q-10-4-2. What do you do?

A—Bid two no-trump. This promises the usual 13 to 15 points, balanced distribution, and at least two stoppers in the enemy's suit. If you had one or two more spades, you would prefer a penalty double, but a double with only two trumps is somewhat risky.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding is the same as in the question just answered.
You, South, hold: Spades A-8, Hearts K-5-2, Diamonds 9-5-3, Clubs A-K-Q-J-2. What do you do?

Questions and Answers

Q—Are talking parrots really intelligent?
A—No. Parrots do not know the meaning of the words they speak and their intelligence is far less than that of dogs or monkeys.

Q—Which states have the largest phosphate mines?
A—Florida and Tennessee.

Q—How many hours per working day is it estimated a man has for leisure?
A—About 4½ hours.

Q—What nickname was given to Congressman Elihu Washburne?
A—"The Watchdog of the Treasury," because he so firmly opposed needless spending.

Q—What is the legend regarding the naming of Lexington, Ky.?
A—The settlement was named in 1775 by a group of hunters who received news of the Battle of Lexington just as they were building a cabin on the site.

What's Right?

"I like the Browns but I almost dread going to their house because they make it so difficult for guests to leave when they want to." Don't ever let that be said of you. Hospitality means making guests welcome—not making them feel like intruders for leaving when they think they have to.

JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The Women: "I would love to do musicals. To sing and to dance, but not to show the legs. I showed my legs in 'The Story of Three Loves.' My mother—oh la la. She was shocked. Her daughter showing her legs. Ooh!"

That's Pier Angeli, the sweet-faced Italian doll, on the subject of her singing-and-dancing role opposite Fernandel in the all-French musical, "Mamselle Nitouche," and her yen to work with hoofers like Gene Kelly and Fred Astaire.

"But always I am a sad girl in pictures," Pier moaned. "It is time I am not sad. I have never done anything happy as an actress. If not happy pictures, then I want to do something big to express myself. Like 'Johnny Belinda' and 'The Glass Menagerie.' I am tired to be the little girl who falls in love with a boy and has a baby."

Otherwise, Pier's beaming. She's 21 and the owner of a powder-blue limousine and a Sunset Boulevard mansion.

Now it's a movie studio going all out to prevent its shapely new blonde star from getting the "Another Marilyn Monroe" label.

The bombardment at Miss Crazy Hips is at Columbia, where the front office bosses ordered the name of its 21-year-old blonde threat changed from Marilyn Novak to Kim Novak for her bow as Fred MacMurray's costar in "The Killers" a Badger.

KIM SPEAKS WITH VIM

And gorgeous Kim gave me more anti-Monroe doctrine details:

"I'm not allowed to have a dramatic coach and they watch me to see that I don't act with my mouth open. They don't want me to be a stylized actress. I come on the set and I have to be natural. The studio wants a refined kind of sex—nothing obvious. Anyhow, sex is secondary. An actress shouldn't work at swinging or wiggling. It's false."

Hello, Joe, what do ya know?

It may have been tough for Joan Bennett to get a grip on stardom as the daughter of Richard Bennett, but Joan's pretty offspring, Melinda Markey, is complaining that it's even worse for her.

The Markey name—her father is writer Gene Markey—and the identification as a Bennett, open doors for Melinda that are closed to most young emotes.

"I admit that I can get into offices without any trouble," she told me. "But for all the good it does. I may as well be on the outside looking in. Being the daughter of Joan Bennett makes producers expect twice as much of me as any other actress."

"You'd think I was Eleanor Duse or something. I'd have a much better chance to get ahead as an actress if my name happened to be Susie Smith."

GLAMOR GETS KICK

Vanessa Brown is pointing her finger at movie idols who have turned into TV hucksters and says that they're kicking glamor right in the teeth.

Entrancing Vanessa, who takes time out from her hit play, "The Seven-Year-Itch," to sit in on TV panel shows, says that the sight of film stars holding boxes of soap powder, cans of peas and bottles of pop in their miffs on TV has the crowds at Sardi's and "21" wondering whether flicker royalty has gone stark, raving bats.

"There's no glamor so great that it can survive out-and-out commercial salesmanship—the kind that should be done by announcers trained for the job," Vanessa opined over the long-distance wire from New York.

"Glamor vanishes overnight when the star lets himself be photographed endorsing products and telling people to rush to the nearest grocery store."

Any arguments?

Let some of her slicker sisters cringe—Elizabeth Scott's accusing most of them of looking alike and having about as much individuality as department store dummies. Time was when a marquee she-babe would set the hair, lip and eye-brow fashions herself, but now Liz is charging!

Westbrook Pegler

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK—If I have to go to Leavenworth or Atlanta for writing this piece, will you try to stop by and visit me through the bullet-proof window? A man gets very lonesome in those great old American institutions and I can't hope to go to Danbury or any of the other country clubs because I am neither a Communist nor a traitor. Furthermore, I undoubtedly am in wrong with Jim Bennett, the superintendent of prisons, for exposing the partiality of his administration to Communists and traitors. That expose is not yet finished, but will be in due course unless I am snatched away untimely for opposing the political designs of Isidore Lipschutz and his Anti-Nazi league.

I feel the hot breath of Mr. Lipschutz and his league on the back of my neck already because I am a personal friend and a political devotee of Clarence Manion, the eminent professor of international law, who formerly was dean of the law school of Notre Dame university.

Doctor Manion was guilty of something serious in advocating the sale of the Tennessee Valley Authority to private interests on the ground that the operation of such a monopoly by the national government was a violation of the constitution and some of the statutes. This opposition made the New York Times and the Herald Tribune so mad that President Eisenhower got Sherman Adams, the captain of the White House guard, to fire Doctor Manion from a commission to investigate the relations of our many governments, federal and state, to one another and to the people.

Up to now, Mr. Lipschutz and his league would seem to have no part in the scenario, but at this point the plot thickens. For Doctor Manion's cause has been taken up by The Committee for Constitutional Government, Inc., and the National Economic Council, Inc., both of New York, which are high on the blacklist of the Anti-Nazi League of which Mr. Lipschutz is the treasurer and, in a word, the works. As I told you the other day, Dr. Edward Rumely, the executive secretary of The Committee for Constitutional Government, twice was indicted and once was convicted and sentenced to a fine and imprisonment for violating the policies of Mr. Lipschutz and his league. In the first case he was acquitted by a jury, but in the second he had to go to the court of appeals and the supreme court to establish his right to distribute printed matter condemning Marxian Socialism and defending the Constitution. Now here I go flouting the will of Mr. Lipschutz and the league.

Sumner Gerard, a New York lawyer of note, wrote me a letter warning me to be very careful not to irritate Mr. Lipschutz and his league. He sent me documentary evidence that the league had corrupted an employee of the committee or planted a spy in the committee's employ to deliver confidential documents to the league's office. And Clinton Anderson, a senator from New Mexico and a typical New Dealer to say the best that can be said of him, admitted to me that James H. Sheldon, a sort of professor who runs the league for Lipschutz, had personally delivered documents to him which were used in the first prosecution, and persecution, of Mr. Rumely. Warned as I was not to antagonize Lipschutz and his league, I was not surprised when recently, under a court order, I was put to a searching inquiry as to my acquaintance with the Messrs. Rumely and Merwin K. Hart and their pro-Constitutional propaganda layouts. I have made no serious study of Hart's stuff and have paid only a little more attention to Rumely's, although I proudly plead guilty to the charge of having read and praised a document which The Committee for Constitutional Government circulated in large numbers. This was John T. Flynn's "The Road Ahead," a diagram of the so-called labor government in Great Britain. That was the offending text in the second Rumely case.

I might have wondered for an explanation of this intense interest in the committee and the council if I had not been warned by one of Lipschutz's professional spies, a proclaimed thief named Mario Buzzi, that the league was determined to get me. But, inasmuch as neither Lipschutz nor the league has ever appeared openly as a plaintiff against me I had a hard time convincing myself that he and the league might have a rooting interest in any case that anyone else might bring against me. I had a hard time but I made it. I am convinced now.

Buzzi told me Mr. Lipschutz and his Doctor Sheldon had expressed a mighty desire to shut me up about them. That desire may have been intensified by my conduct in calling the attention of the Internal Revenue to the fact that the league carries on gum-shoe detective activities against law-abiding citizens. Mr. Buzzi told me that the Internal Revenue took the league's books downtown for analysis and a ruling and I am afraid this may have irritated Mr. Lipschutz severely.

I wonder what they will do to me for spreading the word that The Committee for Constitutional Government and the National Economic Council are whooping up

Yup, Hollywood's still a "they-went-thatta-way" town.

Doctor Manion's ideas on the Constitution, unions and related subjects. They gave Rumely a very rough time and he almost landed in prison. Mr. Hart might have had the same going-over except that he yielded a point which Rumely refused to yield.

As for me, I don't know what. Up to now it seems that I am guilty of something bad in having met Rumely and Hart once each, by chance, and in having received, without solicitation, their propaganda through the mail.

Well, if I go to prison for this come see me, won't you?

The Doctor Says:

Prompt Treatment of Eye Disease Is Very Important

By EDWIN P. JORDON, M. D.

Iritis is one of the serious eye diseases. It is usually associated with pain, watering of the eyes, excessive sensitivity to bright light, and if long continued, interference with vision. The pain is likely to be severe, and worse at night. Touching or pressing the eyeball usually is excruciatingly painful.

If iritis begins suddenly the symptoms are likely to be worse than in the chronic variety, but recovery usually comes more rapidly, perhaps in a few weeks. When proper treatment is begun early the iritis often clears up completely, but complications and the possibility of chronic inflammation are likely.

Iritis is sometimes associated with rheumatism, diabetes, tuberculosis, syphilis, or injury. It is most important that the cause of the iritis be discovered whenever possible. The disease or condition producing the inflammation of the iris must be treated as well as the eye itself. The search for infection elsewhere in the body must be carried out painstakingly and thoroughly. But sometimes no cause whatever can be found.

The eye itself requires highly skilled treatment, including the use of drugs, heat applied locally, rest, and protection from light. Sometimes a method called foreign protein therapy has been found helpful in iritis. This consists in injecting some protein substance (boiled milk is an example) which produces a reaction in the body, usually with fever.

DRUGS SOMETIMES HELP

This seems to stimulate resistance and often has a favorable effect on the iritis. As in most other inflammatory diseases of the eye (but not such things as cataracts, simple glaucoma, and the like) ACTH or cortisone are often extremely useful.

When anything goes wrong with the eyes, diagnosis and treatment should be prompt since the risk of permanent damage to these vital organs is great. It is not possible for a patient to tell what kind of eye trouble he has from the symptoms alone and therefore nothing should stand in the way of seeking expert advice promptly. In iritis, as in other eye diseases, the vision itself may be at stake.

So They Say

I can't play shortstop and keep my eye on the turnstiles, too. —Phillies' Gran Hammer on proffered bonus contract.

What has become of the promises made by the Eisenhower administration for more economy in our government and less waste in the operation of our defense forces? Just what sincerity is there in the claims emanating from the Defense department of "more defense per dollar"? —Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.).

I should be regarded as an expert (on the subject of depression). I even received the honor of having that depression named after me by various political candidates. —Ex-President Hoover.

Just as religious freedom does not include the right to tear down your neighbors' church because you think yours is better, political freedom should not be used to cloak the right hand with protection while the left hand carries on dastardly acts of destruction. —Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas.

I took the stand and—boom! I never anticipated anything like it. It certainly was an experience to me. —Brig.-Gen. Zwicker describes questioning by Sen. McCarthy.

Rx for Hubby's Happiness Respect His Likes, Dislikes

Here's a little test that could make you a better wife. Let's find out just how much you know about your husband.

1. What's his favorite color?
2. How does he like you to wear your hair?
3. What are his favorite foods—and how does he like them cooked?

4. Which of your mutual friends does he enjoy being with?
5. What hobby seems to give him the most pleasure?
6. What so-called feminine traits does he dislike most?

Don't feel smug if you are able to answer every one of those questions without a moment's hesitation.

HERE'S TOUGH PART OF QUIZ

That is just part of the test. The tough part comes now.

1. You know his favorite color—but does it have any place in the decorating scheme of your home, or in your own wardrobe?

2. Are you wearing your hair the way you know your husband likes it—or do you laugh about his "ideas" and wear it the way you please?

3. How long is it since you have served his favorite foods, including the ones you don't like yourself? Honest, now.

4. Have you been seeing more of the mutual friends he especially enjoys or have you taken the easy way out of limiting your social life to just paying back the couples who take the initiative in entertaining you first?

5. Do you encourage your husband's hobby, by showing enthusiasm for it and adding to his equipment at gift-giving times, or do you complain at how much time and money he "wastes" on his hobby?

6. You know what feminine traits irritate him because you've heard him remark about other women, but have you been careful not to do the same irritating things?

It's no use knowing your husband's likes and dislikes—unless you make good use of everything you know about him.

Dixon Firemen Answer Three City Alarms

Dixon firemen extinguished a grass fire Sunday afternoon at Cummins street and Eels avenue.

The blaze apparently started when sparks blew from a rubbish fire. Fire Chief Gail Keyser said today. There was no damage.

City firemen also answered two alarms today. In each case, there was no fire.

One call came from a woman driver who left the brake on when she drove her car this morning, causing smoke. When she stopped to investigate the brake "froze" momentarily.

Firemen investigated the trouble, released the brake, and sent Mrs. Clarence Galliger, 1213 Hemlock av., on her way.

A smoke scare brought firemen to the Telegraph today when a faulty flue in the basement sent smoke to the upper floors. There was no damage.

DTA Presents Lecturer for Public Tonight

William E. Skadden, Springfield, lecturer, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Dixon Teachers' Association today at 7:45 p.m. in the Dixon high school auditorium.

His topic will be "The Family." Until recently, Skadden was the executive secretary of the Illinois Welfare association.

The meeting will be open to the public.

The Dixon Teachers' association is an organization comprised of 114 members of the Dixon public schools, including grade and high school teachers, administrators and professional employees such as the school nurse.

The DTA is comparable to the classroom teachers' organizations in other Illinois cities.

Not a union, the DTA is affiliated with professional societies, receiving leadership and guidance from such groups as the Illinois Education association and the National Department of Classroom Teachers and other pertinent organizations in the teaching profession.

The DTA was formed seven years ago. Besides encouraging active participation on the part of teachers in the solution of school problems, the organization promotes professional growth.

Other objectives include a sound retirement system, studying legislation on education, reviewing educational procedures and improving school conditions.

The DTA is a member of the local chamber of commerce and works in conjunction with the parent-teacher associations.

U.S., Japan Agree to New Pact for Mutual Defense

Japs to Get Grain, Guns; U. S. Troops May Come Home

By GEORGE McARTHUR

TOKYO —(By)— Japan and the United States today signed a mutual defense pact to give the Japanese both guns and grain and hasten the day when American soldiers can withdraw from the island empire.

The mutual defense assistance agreement—actually a series of agreements—will pour 100 million dollars of American aid into Japan's economy in the next three months and probably amount to much more in the long run.

U. S. Ambassador John Allison said the agreement "takes us one step nearer the time when the United States can withdraw its forces from Japan."

Japanese Foreign Minister Katsumi Okazaki signed for his government.

The agreement will boost Japan's defense force from 120,000 to 160,000 men and hold it along more military lines. The United States will supply ships and planes.

The United States also will start the movement of 500,000 tons of surplus wheat and 100,000 tons of barley to Japan. And Japan will sell the grain domestically and in turn use the money for guns and munitions.

The agreement was hammered out in eight months of negotiation which at times brought the Liberal government of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida under intense opposition criticism. Despite Socialist opposition, the government expects ratification by April 1.

Allison emphasized that the pact does not require Japan "to send its young men abroad." He quoted Secretary of State Dulles who said recently the agreement would be "purely of a defensive nature, directed exclusively toward contributing to the defense and security of the Japanese homeland."

However, neither does the agreement specify that Japan should not send troops wherever it saw fit. The agreement binding Japan to the Western democracies in the fight against communism provides for destroyers, tanks, jeeps, airplanes and other military needs. It also provides for a 700-man military advisory group to serve with the Japanese defense force.

Material given to the Japanese cannot be sold to other nations. The agreement is almost identical with similar mutual defense pacts the United States has signed with many nations.

The show brought a 37-piece orchestra conducted by Joseph Galichio with Natalie Hinderas, concert pianist, as featured soloist. For the combination broadcast-telecast microphones were scattered throughout the orchestra so that some groups of instruments were heard through only one of the speakers. Some, including the solo piano, were heard through both.

The result was a sound effect approaching, if not equal to, that heard in the concert hall.

Drake U. Band Will Play Here

DES MOINES, Ia. —(Special)—The Drake university concert band will appear in Dixon Thursday, March 25, on the fourth day of its 1954 spring tour.

The tour includes communities in northeastern Iowa and Illinois and will climax with a performance before the National Music Educators conference in Chicago on March 26. The Drake band is the only university or college band invited to appear on this year's program.

Under the direction of Dr. Gordon W. Bird, the band will present its Dixon concert Thursday at 11 a.m. in the high school.

The 80 members of the Drake band represent eight states and Hawaii.

Unusual instruments in the concert band have made it possible to experiment with new sounds, tonal color and balance, especially in the lower woodwinds.

For example, the Drake band has six bass clarinets and two contra-bass clarinets. In the bass section all players are equipped with a concert type instrument called the sousaphone which was designed primarily for marching units.

The programs on tour include classical and semi-classical selections as well as the march favorites of Sousa, King and other well-known bandmasters. The band also features small ensembles and soloists.

Mexican Leaders Shot by Rebels In New Outbreak

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (By)—Supporters of Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman shot and killed three government political leaders and critically wounded a policeman Sunday in a new outbreak of the continuing strife between the Henriquistas and the regime of President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

Witnesses said Ruben Jaramillo, former Henriquistas candidate for governor of Morelos state, led the attack by about 30 men on the town of Tlucman, southeast of Cuernavaca. They said he shouted it was to avenge the slaying of one of his lieutenants in a clash last week with troops in the area.

Republicans Have Usual Problems—Plus Others

Analyze McCarthy's Impact On Nation, His GOP Friends

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Republicans lie awake nights, thinking rain on the roof sounds like ballots dropping in a box, it's because they have problems. The usual kind, plus some.

The usual kind: Convincing November's voters they've done dandy in the ordinary affairs of government, including handling a recession, and should be re-elected to control of Congress two more years.

The plus some: The conflict between Sen. McCarthy and the Eisenhower administration. If it breaks into open war, McCarthy and the party both face possible losses in November.

If McCarthy and the President should break and the Democrats take over Congress, McCarthy would lose chairmanship of the investigating subcommittee which has brought him headlines and power.

Too Many Crises?

To make the problem extra-plus: "If the conflict continues without a real break, the Republicans may emerge from November beaten up. One interparty crisis after another could leave the voters fed up."

Republican defeat this year would mean Eisenhower would have to depend on a Democratic-run Congress to put over his program for the two remaining years of his term or watch the Democrats ram through their own program.

As chairman, with a staff at his command paid by the taxpayers, McCarthy can make his own investigations. He runs the show. Losing the chairmanship might not be too hard on him. He did pretty well before he had it.

The current speculation about what McCarthy wants can be reduced essentially to three points of view:

1. He has no ambition beyond wanting to be a good senator. Being a good one means for him, right now, routing out any Communists still in the government and exposing anyone who is "soft" on them.

Wants Control?

2. What he really wants is control of the Republican party. He's a Roman Catholic and knows the tradition: No Catholic has ever been president. Therefore, he has no presidential ambitions. But as party head he could make or break presidents. That would make him the most powerful man in the country.

John Ericsson Leagues Name Gustus Leader

JOLIET (AP)—The John Ericsson Republican League of Illinois has named Ruel T. Gustus of Cambridge president.

Other officers named Saturday at the annual convention were Herbert Friedlund of Chicago, vice president; Harold Blomstrand of Chicago, secretary, and I. J. Nordlund of Rockford, treasurer.

The league is an Illinois political group composed of Republicans of Scandinavian descent and numbers some 22,000 members.

Sen. Dirksen addressed the final session of the convention. He told the members, "Our common task is the preservation and survival of our free land in a hostile world."

Dirksen said, "What we do abroad to help rehabilitate and restore economic vigor to other nations must be measured by the yardstick of our own preservation and survival."

E. Rockford Gets All But One Vote At Own Sectional

By ROGER LANE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Pinckneyville, Quincy and Morton of Cicero today were tabbed as the top three downstate favorites for the Illinois high school basketball title.

Each was installed as a top heavy choice in its sectional tournament, missing unanimous selection by only one ballot in The Associated Press weekly poll of sportswriters and sportscasters.

Centralia was given a chance to upset Pinckneyville at West Frankfort, Jacksonville to spill Quincy at Jacksonville and Thornton at Harvey to sidetrack Morton at Aurora.

All For Moline

Eleven of 18 ballots foresaw that Pinckneyville would be the team to wade through the March 17-20 title playoffs at Champaign, and claim the state cage throne vacated last week by LaGrange.

The remainder of top backing for the crown was scattered among Quincy, Morton, Peoria Central and Moline.

Moline was the only club to receive 100 per cent support as a sectional victor, being picked over Kewanee, Sterling and Fulton in the Sterling tournament.

Pick East Rockford

Lone dissents deprived Peoria Central and East Rockford of solid backing in their meets. Other strong favorites included Mount Vernon, Litchfield, Edwardsville, Danville and Monmouth.

The sectional tournaments Wednesday through Friday will name downstate representatives in the 16-team state finals next week. The Chicago public school champion will round out the field at Champaign.

The 1953 Chicago representative, DuSable, is fortified with key veterans from last year and is making a strong bid for a repeat appearance. DuSable is undefeated so far.

Ottawa Over Princeton

The consensus on downstate contenders made Paris a two-to-one favorite to win out over Lawrenceville in the Vandalla sectional. Ottawa was made a similar choice over Princeton at LaSalle.

The widest divergence of opinion involved sectionals at Arlington Heights, where Barrington nevertheless emerged as a clear favorite, and at Springfield, where Trinity of Bloomington was given a narrow margin.

Twelve ballots predicted Barrington as the winner at Arlington Heights, but three apiece strung along with Evanston and Proviso of Maywood.

Other Picks

At Springfield, Trinity drew eight votes to six for Lincoln, four for Springfield and none for Mason City.

This is the poll prediction on the outcome of sectional tournaments, with the number of votes given each team:

At Arlington Heights: Barrington 12, Evanston 3, Proviso 3, Crystal Lake 0.

At Aurora: Morton of Cicero 17, Thornton 1, East Aurora 0, St. Patrick of Kankakee 0.

At Champaign: Danville 13, Champaign 3, Rantoul 2, Hoopes-ton 0.

At Harrisburg: Mount Vernon 16, Mount Carmel 2, Metropolis 0, Douglass of Mounds 0.

At Jacksonville: Quincy 17, Jacksonville 1, Griggsville 0, Astoria 0.

At LaSalle: Ottawa 12, Princeton 6, Pontiac 0, Wenona 0.

At Macomb: Monmouth 16, Corpus Christi of Galesburg 2, Joy 0, Bowen 0.

At Olney: Paris 12, Lawrenceville 6, Cumberland 0, Stewardson 0.

At Peoria: Peoria Central 17, Pekin 1, Lexington 0, Peoria Manual 0.

At Rockford: East Rockford 17, DeKalb 1, Freeport 0, Rochelle 0.

At Springfield: Trinity 8, Lincoln 6, Springfield 4, Mason City 0.

At Sterling: Moline 18, Kewanee 0, Sterling 0, Fulton 0.

At Vandalla: Litchfield 13, Decatur 4, Taylorville 1, Vandalla 0.

At West Frankfort: Pinckneyville 17, Centralia 1, Marion 0, Benton 0.

At Wood River: Edwardsville 15, East St. Louis 3, Greenville 0, Jerseyville 0.

Leonard Unanimous Choice For Coaches Big Ten Team

Illinois Wins 2 Titles

Cagers Bow to Indiana; Fencers, Cindermen Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana, Illinois, Ohio State and Purdue won Big Ten titles Saturday in a full program of sports activity. The Hoosiers wrapped up the Big Ten basketball championship by beating Illinois 67-64 at Bloomington, Ind., in the final game of the regular season.

Illinois won its fourth straight indoor track crown at Champaign, scoring in 10 of 14 events for a total of 55 points. Indiana was second with 42½ points and Michigan third with 42½. The Illini swept six individual titles, including the high jump, where Ron Mitchell set a conference mark of 6 feet, 7½ inches.

Ohio State, winning nine of 14 events, churned to a record sixth straight swimming title at Ann Arbor, Mich., with a new high of 125 points. Ford Konno, the little Hawaiian star, paced the Buckeyes with three individual wins.

Purdue won the wrestling championship, dethroning Michigan. The Boilermakers had three individual winners and scored 26 points in the runnerup Wolverines' 22. Al Vega, at 123 pounds, Bud Weick, at 147, and Ahmet Senol, at 177, were the Boilermaker winners. The meet was held at East Lansing, Mich.

Illinois also won its fifth straight fencing title, at Iowa City, with a 40-point total to second-place Wisconsin's 31. Herman Velasco won the foil and Bill Shewchuck the sabre for the Illini.

Major interest, of course, centered on the basketball windup and the indoor track meet.

Illini Third

Indiana made a cage victory to avoid sharing the title with the Illini and with Iowa. Also at stake was sole right to represent the conference in the NCAA tournament. Indiana finished with 12 wins and 2 losses in the Big Ten. Iowa, which ended its season earlier, is runnerup, at 11-3, and Illinois and Minnesota tied for third, at 10-4. Minnesota beat Wisconsin 78-73 in an overtime Saturday.

The Hoosiers now will represent the conference in the NCAA regional meet at Iowa City Friday and Saturday. Their first-round opponent will be the winner of a play-off Tuesday at Fort Wayne, Ind., between Notre Dame and Loyola of New Orleans.

NCAA Tournament Opens Preliminary Tilts Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—With five conference races still to be decided in down-to-the-wire battles, the involved NCAA postseason basketball tournament gets under way tonight with preliminary rounds scheduled for Buffalo, N. Y., and Durham, N. C.

Powerful La Salle of Philadelphia (21-4), Middle Atlantic Conference winner, is favored over Fordham (18-5), and Connecticut (23-2), the New England representative, is a slight choice over Navy (16-7) in the Buffalo double-header. Fordham and Navy are "at-large" teams, that is, not members of any conference.

At Durham, North Carolina State (25-6), the Atlantic Coast Conference titleholder, meets Southern Conference champion George Washington (25-2). State was an upset winner in the AAC loop, but George Washington swept through the Southern like a tornado. GW is favored.

Only one of the vacancies definitely will be filled tonight, that one will be the Pacific Coast berth. The playoff between Southern Division champion Southern California and Northern Division winner Oregon State shows one victory apiece. They play the deciding game tonight.

Three spots were filled Saturday. North Carolina State made it with an 82-80 overtime decision over Wake Forest; George Washington moved on by defeating Richmond 83-70, and Indiana, which won the championship last year, earned the Big Ten berth with a 67-64 victory over Illinois.

Triple Header

Meanwhile, the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden will go with its second triple-header pitting Brigham Young against St. Francis of Loretto, Pa.; Niagara against Dayton; and Western Kentucky against Bowling Green.

Dayton eliminated Manhattan 90-79, Saturday night and Bowling Green edged Wichita 88-84. In the third game, St. Francis of Brooklyn advanced against Louisville 60-55.

The NAIA—The smaller-college tournament—also gets under way today. The 32-team event will run six days with the eventual champion having to play and win five games in that span. Springfield (Mo.) State is the defending champion.

Olson Averages 37 Points a Game

Karl Olson, with 111 points, was easily the scoring leader for the Dixon regional tournament completed Friday night. In three games that gave the 6-6 Dixon center an average of 37 points a game.

Sterling put three players in the next three places with Ron Newell scoring 49 points for a 16.3 average and John Carrillo and John Gehl, each getting 43 points for a 14.3 average.

Don Natziger, with 41 points in three games and Ken Ferris, Rock Falls, with a like number of points in two games, filled up fifth and sixth places. Natziger averaged 13.7 points a game while Ferris had a 20.5 average.

Dukes Lead Scoring

The rest of the top ten was filled out by Doug and Marty McGinn of Newman, Larry Smith, Milledgeville and Bill Croy, Rock Falls. In all, 23 players averaged 10 points a game or better.

Dixon was the offensive scoring leader with 227 points in three games for an 85.7 per game average. Dixon's opponents scored 186 points for a 62.0 average. Sterling, meanwhile, was the defensive leader, allowing 184 points to the opposition for a 61.3 average. Dixon and Sterling also made the

Schlundt, Ebert, Garmaker Round Out AP Selection

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Height, heft and shooting skill prevails on the 1954 all-Big Ten basketball team selected today for The Associated Press by conference coaches.

Indiana's newly-crowned champion Hoosiers grabbed two berths, Illinois, Ohio State and Minnesota one apiece.

The two Hoosiers, 210-pound, 6-foot, 10-inch Don Schlundt and 6-3, 185 pound Bob Leonard, repeated from last season's honor team. Strangely, however, all-America Schlundt was not a unanimous choice.

Schlundt missed three first team votes, while Leonard was No. 1 choice of all 10 coaches, the only player so honored.

Top Scorers

Rounding out the team are Johnny Kerr, Illinois' 6-9, 225-pound scoring machine; Ohio State's agile Paul Ebert, 6-4, 190; and 200-pound Dick Garmaker, 6-3, of Minnesota.

Only one coach failed to name Kerr to the first team. Ebert missed two first team votes and Garmaker three.

With the exception of Leonard, the team represents the first four finishers in individual conference scoring.

Second Team

Forwards — Carl Cain, Iowa, and Julius McCoy, Mich. State. Center — Frank Ehmann, Northwestern.

Guards — Robin Freeman, OSU, and Charles Mencil, Minn. State; Ed Kalafat, Minn. and Dick Cable, Wisconsin.

Fight Notes

NEW YORK (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan has his final tuneup tonight for his April 2 mid-dleweight title fight with Bobo Olson.

The Cuban flash faces veteran Livio Minelli again in a nontitle 10 in Boston. Gavy outpointed the Italian in Cleveland 11 months ago.

Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore also shows his stuff this week. He goes after his 17th straight victory against bulky Bob Baker of Pittsburgh in a nontitle 10 at the Miami Beach Auditorium Tuesday night.

Handsome Bobby Dykes, the Miami middleweight contender, is an 8-5 favorite to beat hustling Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., in a 10 at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight. DuMont telecasts the 9 p.m., CST, tussle.

No Fraternizing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees got his first look Sunday at Vic Raschi since the big hurler was sent to the St. Louis Cardinals and guess what he said:

"How did you get rid of the belly?"

Raschi picked batting practice and greeted his old mates with the crack:

"Sorry, boys, if I don't appear too chunky. Stanky (Card manager Eddie Stanky) hates fraternizing."

Marshall Gets Head Start

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Willard Marshall, called by Chicago White Sox Manager Paul Richards "the leader type player we need," has a head start in his efforts to nail down a regular job.

The 33-year-old outfielder, acquired from Cincinnati during the winter, drove out a three-run homer Sunday as the Sox opened their exhibition schedule with an 8-3 victory over the Redlegs.

Marshall, who joined the New York Giants in 1942, always was considered a potential major league star, but he never quite reached the heights. Although he batted only .266 in 1953, the White Sox still thought enough of him to let pitcher Saul Rogovin and infielders Connie Ryan and Rocky Krsnich go to Cincinnati.

TICKETS FOR THE ALL-SPORTS banquet for Dixon high school athletes, will go on sale tomorrow at Hank Henry's and at Owen's Sport Shop. For the first week, the sale will be limited strictly to parents of the athletes. Starting March 25, the sale will be open to the general public.

Forest Evanshevski, head football coach at the University of Iowa, will be the main speaker and will show movies of the Iowa-Notre Dame football game last year.

THE STERLING SECTIONAL tournament, like sections all over the state, will begin Wednesday night with a single game.

The first game, at 8 p. m. Wednesday, will pit Sterling against Kewanee while the second game, at 8 p. m. Thursday, will send top rated Moline against Fulton. The finals will be held at 8 p. m. Friday.

In case you forgot to notice, in the prediction department, we could stand some improvement. Going into the finals, we had 18 right and four wrong. After the finals, we had 25 right and nine wrong, having picked seven out of 12 finalists. That gives us a .735 average.

SAYS HECK (HARRY KIDD) of the Sterling Gazette: "Folks, don't let anyone tell you it was an upset (Sterling's win over Dixon in the regional final). I'll let you in on a little secret. Coach Gene Hall and his Golden Warriors planned it that way all the time."

Heck goes on to the supposition that the sectional trophy will also reside in the Sterling showcase. Says he: "That sectional trophy is gonna look mighty purty folks, a-restin' in the SHS trophy case. Come on up next week and look it over."

MIGHT WE ADD that it is a good idea to win the plaque first, Harry. We're for ya, Harry, but we want to be sure you win it before we make that long trip over for a look see.

AN INTERESTING NOTE is that the North Central conference has five regional champions. They are: Rochelle, Sterling, Princeton, DeKalb and Ottawa. Only six had a chance to win since four other members were in regionals won by conference members. Geneseo was the other team with a chance in the Moline event.

Roosevelt Endorsed By Demos

Enters California Campaign to Remove 'Slurs' Against Him

LOS ANGELES (U) — James Roosevelt, accused by his estranged wife of being a philanderer, has won the endorsement of the Democratic party as its candidate for Congress in the 26th District.

Prior to the endorsement by the 26th District Democratic Council, made by acclamation on the second ballot, the 46-year-old insurance executive said in a speech that he decided to enter the race to "obliterate" charges against him and "slurs against the ideals of my father."

The eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt made no specific reference to his wife's sensational separate maintenance suit, but he did say Sunday night, "Personal questions are being used not only against me but against the Democratic party."

He added that the "questions" left him two choices, either to retire from public life, which he said would acknowledge "evidence of guilt or lack of courage," or: "To come before the people and get elected to Congress and make a record which forever would be an answer to any smears the opposition would make."

In her suit, Mrs. Romelle Roosevelt, 28, named three co-respondents and filed a letter signed by Roosevelt and admitting infidelities with nine other women. He has denied all the charges, saying he was forced to sign the letter in 1945 to prevent his wife from divorcing him and thus adding to the burdens of his father as president.

Eleven candidates originally were in the running for the party's backing.

Joe Meek Answers Adlai; Other Candidates Busy

CHICAGO (U) — Joseph T. Meek, one of nine candidates in the hotly contested GOP senatorial primary in Illinois, issued a ringing rebuttal Sunday to a speech in Miami Beach Saturday by former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

Meek, refuting Stevenson's attack upon Republican leadership, said the Democratic leader had "temerity to talk about 'slander, deceit, bitterness and ugliness' because the Republican party is having a touch of the internal division with which the New Deal party wrestled for years."

Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Assn., made the comment in a statement. "The Stevenson we once knew," he said, "would realize that Communism is a worrisome problem to all of us. He would not stoop to furthering the word 'McCarthyism' as a means of diverting us from the real issue at hand—communism."

Pick Up Steam

Meek and other Republican senatorial candidates are picking up steam in their campaign directed at Illinois GOP voters who will pick their party nominee for U. S. Senator April 13.

In other weekend activity of the campaign: Park Livingston of LaGrange said in a Chicago television appearance Sunday that "Republicans abolished 183,000 unnecessary jobs at a considerable saving to the taxpayers during the first year of the Eisenhower administration." Livingston, a trustee of the University of Illinois, said, "The Republican party objective is to prove... that we can have peace and prosperity... without giving up our equality of opportunity system."

Hayes Endorsed
Edward A. Hayes, Chicago attorney and former American Legion head, received endorsement from Edward O. Holly, Republican committeeman for Berwyn. Hayes' campaign directors claimed support pledged from seven Chicago ward organizations.

In Springfield Sunday, Hayes announced the appointment of Conrad Noll Jr., Sangamon County Republican chairman, as his campaign manager for downstate Illinois.

Austin L. Wyman of Glencoe was endorsed Saturday by leaders of a downstate Citizens for Eisenhower group meeting at Springfield.

Will Hayes, Film Censor, Dies at 74

SULLIVAN, Ind. (U) — Will H. Hayes, 74, who led a predepression cleanup of movie morals after uniting the Republican party behind President Harding, will be buried in his beloved home town Wednesday.

The man who served 24 years as so-called czar of the motion picture industry died in the quiet of his home here Sunday.

Once a Republican national chairman before he was 40, he kept an interest in politics till death, though a heart ailment had made him an invalid since October. Only in the last week did his condition become critical.

His wife Jessie and his only son, by a former marriage, Will H. Hayes Jr. of Crawfordsville, Ind., were at his deathbed.

Through his years as a public figure in politics and the movie industry, he kept his home and law office in Sullivan and voted here.

His genius in reorganizing the Republican party in Indiana sent him up to the national chairman's job to reunite the party, still bearing the wounds of the Bull Moose split.

His success brought a landslide victory for Harding in 1920, and Harding named him postmaster general.

Hayes left the Cabinet job in 1922 to clean up the Hollywood film industry, then under a cloud of movie colony scandals. He served 24 years as the $150,000-a-year president of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America.

Though he retired from the Hollywood job to his law practice in 1945, the "Hayes office" code of good taste in movies remained entrenched until recently, when signs of rebellion began to appear.

Demos Claim Economic Issues Important in '54

Reach Conclusion on Heels Of Adlai's Rap at McCarthy

By JACK BELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U) — On the heels of Adlai E. Stevenson's criticism of President Eisenhower for failing to put the brakes on Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), two Democratic senators today agreed that economic issues should outweigh McCarthy's activities in the party's 1954 campaign strategy.

In a speech creating the general impression here he is actively in the field for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, Stevenson said Eisenhower could stop what the former Illinois governor called a campaign by McCarthy to "sow slander and dissension" across the nation.

Agrees With Conclusion
Although he said he agreed generally with that conclusion, Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said he is not too sure of either the timing or the importance that Stevenson gave to McCarthy and his Communist-in-government charges. He was joined by Sen. Murray (D-Mont.).

"Come next fall, when control of Congress is decided at the polls, I think the fiscal policies the Republicans have put into effect are going to be the most important issue," Magnuson said in an interview.

Stevenson's charges in a speech here Saturday night that McCarthy's investigation threatened a "malignant and fatal totalitarianism" and that out of two million federal employees "only one alleged active Communist has been found" brought a hot reply from McCarthy.

"Clever Talk"
"It was a very clever political talk designed to cloud the issues," McCarthy said in an interview. "What the Republicans are trying to do is clean up the Democratic mess. We don't always agree on how the job should be done, but we all agree it must be done."

McCarthy said he campaigned for Eisenhower in 1952 and "I'd campaign for him again today."

McCarthy said he thought what Stevenson was so "stirred up about" was the fact that Eisenhower "does not object to exposure of Communists in the Army or elsewhere."

Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman told a news conference here Sunday that Stevenson's speech was carried free

Rep. Bentley Still Critical, Hospital Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.), wounded when four Puerto Rican nationalists shot up the House of Representatives a week ago, continues to improve but remains in serious condition, his doctor said today.

Bentley, 35, had a "fairly restful night," Dr. Joseph R. Young, Casualty Hospital chief of staff, said.

Bentley was removed from an oxygen tent Sunday and began eating soft foods for the first time since the shooting, the doctor said, previously, he had been fed intravenously.

Spells of hiccupping which began troubling Bentley late last week are recurring, the doctor said, probably because of an injury to his diaphragm. A bullet struck Bentley in the right chest, pierced a lung and his stomach and shattered his liver before emerging on the right side of his abdomen.

FBI's 3-Man 'Anonymity Anonymous' Heir-Apparent to J. Edgar Hoover

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The subject of who can—or will—succeed FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover holds all records as the most durable and intriguing source of speculation in this town.

It dates back to early New Deal days when political hatchet men were after Hoover's scalp.

The latest spark is the retirement of Daniel M. (Mickey) Ladd as head of investigations, and the appointment of Leland V. Boardman as his successor.

By choice the key men around Hoover in the FBI are charter members of an organization known as "Anonymity Anonymous." And there's no question that Boardman will quickly pull the soundproof walls of the Bureau around him, and quietly disappear from public view.

Today, however, because of his lectures around the country to police and other law-enforcement groups during recent years, he's one of the better-known FBI officials outside of the Bureau. Because of his promotion he now joins the ranks of possible Hoover successors.

Before the advancement, Boardman was special agent in charge of the important New York office, a title he has also held in Milwaukee, Cleveland, Seattle, Philadelphia and Kansas City.

He is a quiet, amiable, youthful-looking man of 45, a graduate of the University of Minnesota Law School, married and has one child. President of Anonymity Anonymous in the Bureau is Clyde Tolson, who's a charge when Hoover is out of town. His title is associate director.

He and Hoover became friends when they worked together on the arrest of gangster Alvin Karpis in New Orleans in 1936. They're both bachelors and manage to conduct some of the Bureau's business over dinner several nights a week in one of Hoover's favorite Washington restaurants. Tolson is 53. He and Hoover are both graduates of George Washington University Law School.

No story ever speculates on Hoover's successor without mentioning the name of Lou Nichols, who is in charge of the Bureau's records and communications. He's very close to Hoover and if he can't produce from memory some fact or scrap of information on the FBI, which may be 10 years old, he'll get it from his voluminous files in five seconds flat.

Lou is a big, easy-going gent whose hobby is carpentry.

Before Ladd's retirement the trio of Tolson, Ladd and Nichols was considered the top echelon of the Bureau whose only ambition in life was the chance to put in a little more overtime for "The Boss." Now Boardman is one of them.

Ladd's statement on the day of his retirement is typical of the devotion they all share for Hoover.

When asked what he considered to be the most significant development in crime detection during the many years he's been in charge of the Bureau's investigations, Ladd replied:

"Why Mr. Hoover's leadership in making law-enforcement a respected profession and his development of scientific crime laboratory work, of course."

Ladd is the first to deny it, but he can share with Hoover some of the credit for developing the Bureau's crime lab, the finest of its kind in existence. He was astant to Charles A. Appel, Jr., when Appel started the lab, was in charge of it for three years over-all boss of investigations.

Ladd's office was loaded with fishing gear, golf clubs and an outboard motor which Bureau employees gave him the day he retired. He's going to take up fishing and loafing in earnest in Florida from now on.

However, he could easily become one of the nation's more prosperous writers if he would agree to sell some of the fabulous stories and yarns about the FBI which he carries in his head. But on that score he says:

"I'm not the type who writes books. The information I have happens to belong to the Bureau and that's that."
